

100 days to go – still time for your team to join Suomi-Eesti 100+ Challenge

Suomi-Eesti 100+ Challenge on June 10th will gather football, futsal and beach soccer teams from Finland and Estonia to face each other in more than 100 games during one day. On March 2nd, with exactly 100 days to go, more than 150 teams have already registered for the event.

The registered teams will be paired by the organizers forming a number of games between Finnish and Estonian counterparts to be played either in Finland or Estonia. The first games have already been settled, but there is still time for your team to join the event. The registration will be open until March 31st at <http://100games.eu>, where you can also find all the teams who have registered for the event.

Four well-known football characters – two men and two women - will serve as official ambassadors of the event. Former internationals Jari Litmanen (137 full caps) and Mart Poom (120 full caps) hardly need any introduction to Finnish or Estonian football fans and the same applies to former Finnish international Katri Mattsson (100 full caps) and current Estonian international Signy Aarna (64 full caps in the beginning of March 2017).

On the very same day a special Respect match will also be played, in which Finnish and Estonian player legends will meet each other. This Respect match is naturally also a part of the Suomi-Eesti 100+ Challenge.

All games played on June 10th will matter as the event is not only about playing a team from neighboring country or the result of a single game, the total score of all games will also be counted to determine the winner. But winning is not everything, being a part of a great football event which celebrates the 100 years of independence of both countries will undoubtedly remain as a fond memory for everyone – whatever the results on the pitches may be.
